Doreen Koenig Assessment Specialist Email: Call: 408.722.9414 After an absence, a student is required to bring a written apology from home when they return to school. Illnesses, and doctor and dental appointments are considered excused absence. Absence without a written apology is recorded as unexcused. California schools no longer receive support for students who are sick or excused. Whenever possible, it is important that your child goes to school for part of a day after or before appointments. However, other attendance requirements are still apologized and unspoken tallies. No student whose participation has been excused shall lose grades or academic credit whose duties and tests can reasonably be completed. No pupil shall have his grade reduced or lose academic credit for the excused absence or absence if lost duties and tests that can reasonably be carried out have been satisfactorily completed within a reasonable time. (a) By way of derogation from Section 48200, a pupil shall be exempted from school when the absence is:(1) Due to his illness. (2) Due to quarantine under the direction of a county or city health officer. (3) For the purpose of providing medical, dental, optometry or chiropractic services. (4) In order to attend the funeral of a member of his or her immediate family, as long as the absence is no more than one day. (6) Due to illness or medical appointment during school hours of a child to whom the pupil is the custodian parent. (8) In order to act as a member of a district board for election under Section 12302 of the Electoral Code. (9) In order to spend time with a member of the pupil's immediate family who is an active member of the uniformed services, as defined in EC 1u00a7701, and has been called up for service, is on leave from or has immediately returned from deployment in a combat zone or combat support position. The teacher in the class from which a student is not present determines which tests and tasks can reasonably correspond to, but not necessarily identical to the tests and tasks that the student has forgotten during absence. (c) In this title, participation in religious must not exceed four hours per semester. (d) Absences under this title shall be considered as absences when calculating average daily attendance and shall not generate state distribution payments. (e) (Immediate Family) as used in this section, has the same meaning as specified in section 45104, except that references therein to (Employer) are considered references to (Student) Changed it: Tor. 1. Parents and students must have created accounts before they can access the functions of Aeries Parent and Student Portals. The same accounts can be used by students or parents to access Aeries Mobile App. Aeries support automatic account creation, but also supports parents or students to create their own accounts individually, as described in this article. Parents who have multiple students in the same district only need a single account to access all of their students. In addition, several parents can each have their own account to avoid the need to share password information. The creation and maintenance of parent or student accounts in Aeries can also be called the Parent Account Management System (PAMS). One way to create accounts is to get parents and/or students to create accounts individually. When the parent or student has the information necessary to create an account, no further action is required from the school or district. In addition to individual account creation covered by this article, automatic account creation can be used as an effective method for automatically creating accounts. Necessary information and VPC CodeBefore parents can create an account individually, they need 3 pieces of information: Student ID number (STU.ID), Primary Phone (STU. TL) and verification code (STU. VPC) for each student. This information is typically given to the superior in a printed letter instructing the superior to go to the parent portal site that the district has already installed and configured. This information can be distributed as a letter during registration, on back-to-school nights, or sent home to parents. An Aeries query letter or mail merge can be used to produce these letters. Labels (Avery 5160 Labels) can be printed and can be printed by class, so that the distribution of labels and instructions at events can be streamlined. Note: Automatic account creation does not require using VPC. The verification code (STU. VPC) is automatically generated when students are added to Aeries. It contains a random 11-character string of numbers and letters. This string avoids characters like 0, O, 1, L and I to reduce confusion. A student's VPC code can be found on the Etiqueta 2 tab on Aeries Web. It can also be viewed by running the Avery 5160 Labels report with the Labels option with parent portal information selected. Note: Normal For example, you must have up-to-date access to student demographics to view the VPC code, but under district rules, you can provide reading permission for STU to view verification passport code (STU. VPC). VPC codes are created when a student is added to Aeries and should never be changed. Should there be a situation where some students do not have a VPC code running the Avery 5160 Labels report mentioned above, will automatically generate VPC codes for anyone who is missing. Aeries Software recommends that the phone number not be printed on the label or letter provided to the parents/guardians. Schools or districts should inform parents of the most important information provided to link their account to their pupils/pupils, to be kept safe to prevent others from creating an account and accessing their students' information. Parents/guardians can remind their students not to share the information with their friends or other people outside the family. Signing up for an accountThisic parents/guardians or students have the necessary information in hand (ID number, Phone and VPC), they can go to the Aeries Parent or Student Portal link on their school or district and click on the Create new account link. This will take the parent or student through the registration process. Note: Multiple languages are supported on the portal. Parents can choose their desired language as part of the account creation process and will be presented with translated text throughout the process. During this process, individuals will be asked for their account type, parent, or student. With this individual account creation process, it is not possible to prevent students from creating accounts whose parents can create accounts. Students may eventually acquire VPC, ID, and TL from their parents and by to sign up for an account of their own. Allowing students to enroll as students will actually discourage them from signing up as parents. This will not prevent students from registering as parents, but will help minimize incidents. Then, the parent or student is asked for an email address and password to use for their new account. After this step, an email will be sent to this email address and the registration process will be stopped until they go to their email inbox and click confirm this email address link in the email that was sent. If the person can't click the links in the email, they can manually go to the specified URL and manually accept or reject the account. Note: The e-mail code should not be confused with the VPC code. The e-mail code is only used as part of the one-time activation process. If they click the Verify link in the e-mail message, the following page will appear and they can continue with the registration process. The parent or student must now click Return to the login page and sign in with the previously provided email address and password. The registration process will continue with the parent entering the ID, TL and VPC of the student they wish to access. If this three information is confirmed in relation to a separate technical electronic/electrical device record in the database, that account is associated with that student. If the school allows parents to associate themselves with a contact record, the parent will see a list of all contact records for that student. This applies only if the account was created as a parent account and there is at least one contact record for the student. If the account is a student account, the field must be for the student's email address (STU. SEM) will be updated. The Self-back Contact Settings feature must be enabled so that parents can associate themselves with a contact record. For an explanation of the settings, see Contact Manager in the parent portal. When a name is selected and the parent clicks Next, the company email address tries to fill in the contact record e-mail field (CON. EM). If the contact record has an existing email address filled in that is different from the company email address, the parent must click OK to replace it. When overwritten, an email will be sent to the old email address informing the owner that the email address stored in Aeries has changed and to contact the school if there is a concern. If the parent selects None of the above, no contact records will be updated. Now that the account is created and associated, the parent or student can use the login page to log on to the portal and view the information about the associated student. Adding more students to an already created accountThe aeries parent and student portal allows individual parent accounts to be linked to multiple students. The account can even be associated with students from different schools within the same district. This means that parents only need one username and password to access all their students. The parent must use the required information before they can add another student to their account. To add a new student to an account, the user must first sign in to Parent Portal. The menu shows Change Student, a drop-down list of students currently assigned to this account appears, and the option to add new student to your Account. To add more students, asking the parent for the ID, TL, and VPC, and also being asked to select their contact record as mentioned earlier. The user will then see the students added in the Change Student drop-down and can easily switch between them by clicking on the student's name. Note: Although parents can add students to their accounts through this method, they may not remove them. To remove a student from an account, a school or district employee must remove the account for them. Did you find it useful? Yes NoSend feedback Sorry that we couldn't be helpful.
